

SWAROVSKI "VINTAGE" CANDLEHOLDERS

SILVER CRYSTAL "VINTAGE" CANDLEHOLDERS

We are often asked about the old style candleholders with code numbers 101 to 148 (with some gaps in sequence) and how to tell which one is which. They were in a category called "Our Candleholders" which some produced solely for the European market, others for the USA market. Additionally, where they were available to both markets, there was an interesting difference between the top of the candleholders, with the European ones having a "spike" for the candle to sit on, and the USA ones have a "hole" for the candle to sit in. Explanation? Apparently it was considered that the Europeans were more frugal and wanted to let the candle burn right down!
